

00:05:50 Karen Jones: Welcome to the 988 Crisis Jam!

00:08:30 Kymber Corbin: Good Morning Everyone!

00:09:36 Brooke Herevia: Good morning

00:09:41 John Wallschlaeger: Good morning Dr. Sims. On the Jams I have watched there has been between 200 and 300 attendees from coast to coast.

00:11:27 Zoomus Nasmhpd: Dr. Brian Sims, You Rock! :)

00:12:30 Karen Jones: If your national organization isn't listed or you are with Medicaid and your state isn't in blue, please let me know by chat or email karen.jones@riinternational.com

00:13:37 Kymber Corbin: To receive your personal invitation to this meeting, please click this link: https://talk.crisisnow.com/learningcommunity/?utm_source=ActiveCampaign&utm_medium=email&utm_content=Special+Edition+988+Crisis+Jam&utm_campaign=Today+is+the+Special+Edition+Crisis+Jam%21

00:19:46 Laura Van Tosh: SMI was established during the last federal Admin.

00:20:43 Laura Van Tosh: Is there a chance to rethink the name of it - just seems out of sync with the rest of our nomenclature. Recovery and SMI butt heads (pardon pun).

00:21:35 John Snook: SMI adviser has A TON of resources. I highly recommend taking a few minutes to look around. I had the chance to work with the system and provide some information, it's great.

00:22:05 Laura Van Tosh: I have one on my phone. It is well designed and I like it.

00:23:48 V de la Vega: Nashbit?

00:24:07 Bob Crayton: Will Karen's presentation be shared with Attendees? Thanks so very much!!

00:24:27 Sue Ann O'Brien: So happy BHL could assist with this initiative!

00:24:28 Bob Crayton: meant Amy's presentation

00:25:25 Loren Rives - American College of Emergency Physicians: the website says that it's available for "Any mental health professional in clinical practice setting can request a consultation." - can other physicians use this? (primary care, emergency medicine, etc.)

00:25:49 Jay Meek: The National Association of State Mental Health Program Directors (NASMHPD). We have a funny pronouncing acronym!

00:25:53 Amy Cohen, PhD (APA): yes, everyone can use. there are no barriers to use of any of our assets including consults!

00:26:03 Loren Rives - American College of Emergency Physicians: thanks!

00:26:08 Amy Cohen, PhD (APA): everything free to the field

00:26:43 Karen Jones: The featured presentation slides will be available on the 988 crisis jam site at <https://talk.crisisnow.com/learningcommunity/>

00:27:08 Bob Crayton: Thanks so very much @Karen!!!

00:31:34 Paul Galdys: Yes Amy! We have fallen short for far too long and needs to be accessible and part of our "routine"

00:31:41 Toyin Ola: This is very interesting. Is the thought to have this accessible to 911 telecommunicators and first responders like safety profiles offered through services like RapidSOS and Smart911?

00:32:22 Bob Crayton: So happy NAMI's Peer Leadership Council (PLC) could assist with this initiative creating a national registry for PADs!

00:32:30 Jose Viruet- Erie Family Health Center: I agree with the idea of having this resource available in a centralized location.

00:33:01 Debbie Atkins,DBHDD GA: would love to see a box they could check to see if they would want it linked to the crisis hubs in the state vs a national registry.

00:34:15 Debbie Atkins,DBHDD GA: Choice is important.

00:34:46 Toyin Ola: +1 Debbie Atkins

00:34:47 Laura Van Tosh:If we cannot get everyone to Vaccinate,,,

00:35:05 Lisa St. George: I have assisted many individuals to create a POA and many have come back to tell me that even though the POA was notarized and witnessed, the medical teams did not take it seriously or use the tool even when handed to them. Hospital staff as well as others need to take it seriously. People work hard to make these and overcome many fears to decide who they want to take over for them. Such important work you are doing!!!!

00:35:28 *Brian Sims, M.D. NASMHPD: If you would like to post your questions here in the chat box, I will try to (if time permits) present them Thanks!

00:36:45 Bob Crayton: Great to "see" NAMI's Teri Brister!!! :) she has been an invaluable asset to NAMI's PLC!!!!

00:37:10 Bob Crayton: and NAMI's Angela Kimball too!!! :)

00:37:13 LyndaZeller: I am confident philanthropy would be interested in helping support state(or group of states) who were interested in PADs being accessible during a crisis, through a registry network (where individual could designate access (or restrict) to local, state and/or national network. I am confident that we could raise interest from many foundations. Michigan colleagues...if you are out there give me a call so we can be first in line :-)

00:37:55 Wendy White Tiegreen - GA DBHDD: @ Lisa - Many states don't have recognized PADs in law, so some work would have to consider different legal expectations (or absence of those).

00:38:01 Annette Marcus She/her: Could you repeat the bill number in Colorado

00:38:33 Charlie Smith SAMHSA: Colorado House Bill 19-1044

00:39:40 Margie Balfour: Random thoughts on where it could it could live... Rather than create a new infrastructure from the ground up and try to make people use it, let's look at existing things to piggyback on. For example states that have an HIE (Health Information Exchange). Or maybe require health plans to give patients an option to keep it on file...

00:39:41 Laura Van Tosh: I like the tool and have the APP. My concern is the responder/provider 'listening' to the PAD. That's where the train goes off rails.

00:39:51 Wendy White Tiegreen - GA DBHDD: Might I suggest the legal division from NASMHPD as an asset in this conversation?

00:40:05 Annette Marcus She/her: @Christo

00:40:08 Annette Marcus She/her: is

00:40:46 Lee Ann Reinert, IL: the idea of state level would also be helpful in terms of thinking thru confidentiality laws that exist at state levels

00:40:57 Annette Marcus She/her: Thank you Christie. (sorry, typo before)

00:41:07 Kelly Marschall: Could start with states with one Lifeline as a pilot

00:41:30 Preston Looper: I imagine you all have contemplated access to a persons PAD based upon urgency: routine, urgent, and emergent and recipient typology: first responder, BH crisis provider, medical provider, family, etc. Also, "break the glass" scenarios could be considered

00:41:35 Margie Balfour: Or maybe do it through an organization like NAMI that is national but has state branches

00:41:43 LyndaZeller: @Lee Ann. completely agree with state level being required due to differences in advanced directive and privacy laws, etc

00:42:49 Suzanne Rabideau: Like other data use approaches, could use opt in or opt out of being in different registries that way those who want to can opt in

00:42:55 Jeffrey Hill: Half of Rhode Islanders are enrolled in Current Care, it would be great if this information was included in that information exchange database. <https://riqi.org/solutions/health-information-exchange/currentcare/>

00:43:23 Teri Brister: @Bob Crayton, great to "see" you as well

00:44:08 Mike Hogan: Hi Teri--good to see you here!

00:45:25 Keith Lewis: could have the state level as the primary option with the federal as a secondary option.

00:46:03 Jeffrey Hill: <https://csgjusticecenter.org/projects/law-enforcement-mental-health-learning-sites/>

00:46:11 Amy Cohen, PhD (APA): I like that. I REALLY want to move this forward so I'm going to be reaching out.

00:48:25 Susan Kerin: I like that Sheriff's offices (who do court orders) are included not just police departments.

00:51:53 Suzanne Rabideau: How can one access the report submitted to congress?

00:52:44 Suzanne Rabideau: Can the public view these meetings? If so, how can one access these meetings?

00:54:19 Stephanie Hepburn: You can learn more about JMHCP learning sites at Taking the Call, a virtual conference on October 20 and 21 that's free and open to the public. It will cover how certain law enforcement jurisdictions serve as laboratories for innovation to ensure people facing behavioral health issues, quality of life challenges, and homelessness get the care and resources they need. <https://takingthecall.csgjusticecenter.org/>

00:55:24 Annette Marcus She/her: Is there a way to get involved with the group focusing on children's systems?

00:55:50 Margie Balfour: Thanks for spotlighting the learning sites! It's important to get the word out about how communities are solving these problems in real life. All of us in the program love to host visitors and provide TA so please check them out!

00:56:20 Becky Zornick: Richard.mckeon@samhsa.hhs.gov

00:56:34 Annette Marcus She/her: thank you

00:56:45 Kirsten Beronio: Will the plans states have submitted for use of the Mental Health Block Grant set-aside funds for crisis stabilization be posted?

00:58:37 Stephanie Hepburn: Absolutely, Margie! It's a fantastic and vital resource for communities to tap into.

00:59:33 Laura Van Tosh: SMI APP and other person centered tools will tell US what services are needed. I wonder how many crisis stab beds if it's not beds that people say they want to ease crisis.

00:59:35 Kirsten Beronio: Thanks!

00:59:39 Laura Van Tosh: hope that makes sense

01:00:18 Richard McKeon: Ted can you say more about what you are looking at re 988, 911, and the local crisis centers

01:00:21 V de la Vega: Where can we find the stat about the 50% increase in suicide attempts in adolescent girls since COVID?

01:00:52 Laura Van Tosh: CDC data V de la

01:01:44 Jeffrey Hill: CDC allow states, counties, etc. to apply for the Public Health Associate Program for early career graduates to work in your agency in addition to Americorp. <https://www.cdc.gov/phap/index.html>

01:04:10 Michael Claeys: Paul Galdys

01:05:35 Wendy White Tiegreen - GA DBHDD: GA likes Richard's response!

01:05:50 Charlie Smith SAMHSA: Way to go Colorado and REgion 8. You should have asked for a lifeline Richard

01:06:09 Bob Crayton-NC: Yes, @Wendy! I love GA's CAHOOTS model too!

01:06:52 Annette Marcus She/her: I have a request-- can we have a discussion sometime about challenges and opportunities and best practices for States where mental health/crisis services is county administered rather than state.

01:08:18 Wendy White Tiegreen - GA DBHDD: Our statewide coverage of Mobile Crisis is not CAHOOTS, but we do have amazing relationships with local law enforcement who accompany us when necessary.

01:09:23 Laura Evans, Vibrant Emotional Health: Wonderful job Brian! :)
