

00:09:37      adrianah:        Good morning from New Mexico!!

00:10:02      adrianah:        not cold today!!

00:10:15      Gerald Stansbury (Solari):        80 degrees in Houston

00:10:46      Gerald Stansbury (Solari):        It is nice :-)

00:11:11      Cheryl Stephenson:        Greetings from New Jersey!

00:11:26      Jennifer Battle: Houston is a great place to be all the time :)

00:11:44      Jennifer Battle: Come visit!

00:21:15      Paul Galdys:     Love the focus on creating an option for children with the most acute challenges to have immediate access to focused crisis care!

00:36:07      Stephanie Hepburn:     Thank you so much, Dr. Baldwin. Essential conversation.

00:37:48      Kelsi Linville:     Dr. Baldwin, I may have missed it - did you share when the best practice guidelines for children will be made available? We are eager to ensure we include these important recommendations in our 988 implementation planning.

00:37:49      Laura Van Tosh: Curious about peer support roles that was mentioned.

00:38:34      Stephanie Hepburn:     100%, Paul!

00:39:14      Laura Van Tosh: Washington State has 4,700 trained peer workers who need jobs! So, if your point was about need - - here's one example. Hope you can comment!

00:39:22      Megan McDaniel (She/Her):     I'm also interested in what a youth peer specialist role might look like and how that differs from traditional peer roles

00:39:30      Lois Gillmore, R-10:     Wonderful presentation! So valuable!

00:39:42      Frances Purdy - Oregon: Oregon is crafting similar programs and connecting with follow up with community-based Family Peer Support and In-Home intensive Behavioral Health

00:40:01      Sally Fouché she/her:     Data re age of mental illness occurrence t& Presentation at NAMI week said that mental health is a "pediatric health emergency." Early interventions are key!

00:40:11      Julie Magers:     When states are engaging “peers” and “consumers” to share lived experiences, it is imperative that those who are youth and parents/caregivers are given full voice to describe the developing system - we can so often be overshadowed by adult peer/consumers, many of whom don't demonstrate understanding of the distinctly different needs! How do we make this point?

00:40:11      Paul Galdys:     Fantastic presentation Melinda and really important points Richard. Thank you team SAMHSA!

00:40:32      Huckshorn:        sorry folks

having mike trouble. thank you Dr Baldwin. wonderful presentation.of all you talked about I just wanted to reinforce the import of youth peer supports

00:41:53 Julie Magers: @Meganmcdaniel - yes!! Youth Peer Support, Family Peer Support, Adult Peer Support - these are all specialized peer support

00:42:03 Lynda Igargan@ffcmh.org: Families were extremely interested and appreciative about being included

00:42:17 CJ Loiselle: Has thought been given to revising Peer credentialing guidance specific to youth Peer Specialists?

00:42:59 Laura Van Tosh::-) Thanks, Megan! Thank you Melinda and your remarks about various role of engagement for peers - workforce and planners!

00:43:07 Kim Myers (she/her): CJ, there are some models. Utah has a 'transition aged youth' add on certification for our peer support programs.

00:43:23 CJ Loiselle: Thank you Kim, I will look into that :)

00:43:34 Marcus Biswa: Thank you Dr. Baldwin. Good Focus, concerns on tender life, time they can be built.

00:43:55 Lisa St. George: RI International has a training specific to Transition Aged Youth.

00:43:55 Melinda Baldwin (SAMHSA): Thank you! Please don't hesitate to reach out -

00:45:06 Liseanne Wick: Jennifer Battle is a stellar example of innovative suicide prevention for all of us. :0)

00:48:32 Nick Nudell: Jennifer are you IAED site using EMD and/or the police products?

00:53:11 Stephanie Hepburn: Thank you so much, Jennifer!

00:53:14 Jennifer Battle: Hi Nick, we are embedded inside the dispatch center so we are logged in to their systems.

00:53:55 Linda Langford (she/her): I'm in the Jennifer Battle fan club.

00:54:02 Nick Nudell: Jennifer - thank you. I am curious how you integrate with the EMD or police protocol in the call taking process. Are those details available?

00:54:08 Jennifer Battle: absolutely! Happy to have you Richard!

00:54:36 Jennifer Battle: Yes Nick, please feel free to email me.
